

Verifying a University of Waterloo Degree

In effort to improve our service to the community, the University of Waterloo has partnered with AURADATA, a Canadian company specializing in secure online education verification. This partnership streamlines the process companies or academic institutions use to verify academic credentials.

- AURADATA provides online risk prevention of résumé fraud and misrepresentation of post secondary education credentials.
- Subscribers to AURADATA are able to confirm the post secondary education claims of prospective employees efficiently online, 24/7.
- Employers can minimize the hiring risk associated with education fraud in the hiring process while Universities, Colleges and Professional Associations have a method of protecting their product.
- Graduates are protected from illicit use of their designations by less scrupulous job hunters.

Confidentiality:

Confidentiality is a primary concern of the University of Waterloo and AURADATA. A signed authorization from the graduate is required by AURADATA before any information is released.

For fast, economical and convenient University of Waterloo degree verifications please visit:

www.auradata.com